SUBJECT: Proposal for an undergraduate minor in Food Safety

The Council on Academic Affairs and the Faculty Senate Curriculum Committee (FSCC) have approved the proposal for an undergraduate minor in Food Safety. The proposal is found on the FSCC web page (23 page pdf file) at:

<http://www.public.iastate.edu/~catalog/fsccl/homepage.html>

The minor will require 15 credits with nine credits from core courses including a capstone seminar course in Food Safety Issues, and three credits from each of two areas: Food Microbiology and Food Processing.

Faculty interested in the minor are from the departments of Food Science and Human Nutrition, Microbiology, Animal Science, Hotel Restaurant and Institution Management, and Veterinary Diagnostic & Production Animal Medicine.

The proposal needs Faculty Senate and Regents approval.
